

From: Philip Schiller <[REDACTED]>
Subject: iPhone OS idea
Received(Date): Sun, 03 Jan 2010 08:48:00 -0800
Cc: Greg Joswiak <[REDACTED]> Eddy Cue <[REDACTED]>
To: Steve Jobs <sjobs@apple.com>, Scott Forstall <[REDACTED]>
Date: Sun, 03 Jan 2010 08:48:00 -0800

---

Steve, Scott,

Just a thought:

One of our greatest advantages over Android is our online stores (iTunes Store, App Store, and soon the Book Store).

I think that it would be smart to build these three stores as far into the iPhone OS experience as possible to push our advantage.

Perhaps in a future version of the iPhone OS these stores wouldn't look and work just like all other apps (icons that you launch) but they were permanent screens that you flick to in the UI?

They would always be there, running and at a different level than regular apps.

Phil

---